

Biography VaLarie Humphrey

VaLarie Humphrey is an illustrative motivational presenter with a high level of energy. She has a way of empowering others with her words. Thousands have been impacted and inspired to change their paths in life after hearing her words of encouragement. She is a dynamic presenter, speaker, facilitator, educator and activist. She has been labeled as the "at risk" educator. The label represents her desire to impact those that others may have given up on, or those that seem to have no one in their corner.

While attending college at a four year university she made choices that caused her to be placed on academic probation after the first semester and then academically suspended after her second semester. Having to attend a junior college to obtain re-entry into the university she did so with a novel mindset.

With an unstoppable mindset she obtained her bachelor's in Education and continued on to receive her Masters in Administration. After her first year of teaching, she received the "New Teacher of the Year" Award. She was later recognized in the "Who's Who Among America's Teachers" annual publication.

While teaching she was able to reach a few, she didn't feel that she was reaching the masses of those that needed to be heard. After spending 13 years in the classroom she was offered an administrative position at an alternative school.

Taking the position as principal was a huge change from instructing. Her passion for the "at PROMISE" not the "at-risk" truly had to move to the forefront of her life. She worked at the alternative school for one year before moving to the public school sector to assist the students prior to being placed in an alternative setting.

She began a mentoring program in 1999 for middle school females. One of her girls in the mentoring program asked her if she would speak at her churches Women's Conference in 2000. She has been on fire to motivate and encourage young people not to allow their situation to determine who they are only where they are ever since.

While in her quest to raise awareness about struggling youth and the need for adults to advocate for positive change, she received the "Community Leader Award."

VaLarie Humphrey is impacting lives...one presentation at a time.
